

In a Nearby Universe ...

Germany Now "Committed to Peace"

Millions of Germans claiming Sudeten-German descent today marched peacefully into the Czech Republic and declared a Nazi State there. The German government had been keeping them in squalid camps ever since the expulsion of all Sudeten-Germans from their homes at the end of World War 2. Over the decades, making cynical use of the original refugees' grievances, the failed and tyrannical German state has fed them and their descendants a relentless diet of Nazi propaganda in which all their suffering, and the myriad ills of German society as a whole, has been blamed on the Czech government and people. In four major wars and a non-stop terrorist campaign, Germany has tried unsuccessfully to reconquer the Czech Republic.

Today the German Government expressed its "quiet satisfaction" that it has at last been able to achieve that objective by peaceful means. "The long nightmare (or, as we Germans say, die Katastrophe) of the existence of an independent Czech nation on our doorstep has now been finally rectified", said a spokesman, who declared that Germany is now "absolutely committed" to peace.

Following the land-for-peace takeover, the UN is instituting an urgent relief effort for the surviving Czechs, who are being airlifted to Uganda where they belong.

In other news:

Canadian Intransigence Torpedoes Prospects for Peace with France

There is no more fundamental axiom of French culture than that Canada is sacred French land which must be returned to the glory of French rule. The 40 million French who claim Québécois descent have been kept for generations in refugee camps, and their children taught that their only purpose is to sacrifice their lives in a holy war of murder and conquest of Canada. The French Government, having failed several times to conquer Canada by conventional warfare, has sent thousands of Québécois-descended militants to murder English-speaking Canadians, whom they accuse of devouring the blood of French children and plotting to rule the world. French politicians have repeatedly threatened to "burn half of Canada" with their fearsome Force de Frappe. Now President Bush, in collaboration with the EU, the UN, and ~~the Soviet Union~~ Russia, has proposed a "Road Map" in the hope of ending the long cycle of violence.

But, as usual, Canada's intransigence threatens to torpedo all such conciliatory initiatives: although Canada has declared itself willing to make the "painful concession" of ceding Quebec to French sovereignty and forcibly relocating the English-speaking inhabitants, it has also declared in advance that it will never agree to a "right of return" of 40 million French "refugees" to Canada. Since Canada's population is only 32 million, "this would be a formula for the end of Canada as an independent nation," said a Canadian spokesman, "it would simply become another province of France and its English-speaking population would be oppressed, driven out or slaughtered." Dominic de Villepin, the French Foreign Minister, responded: "And votre point is?"

Sun, 05/11/2003 - 16:28 | permalink

Canadian Coincidence

You've heard of the FLQ, right? And who trained them? (see link) And, when their "targets included ... the homes of prominent English speakers in the wealthy Westmount area" (see link) -- you know who that means, right?

Fortunately, that was all in the far distant past.

by a reader on Sun, 05/11/2003 - 20:26 | reply

Not a Coincidence

Wow. In fact we did not know who that means. We should have guessed it on a priori grounds, but in fact we did not. Thank you for the information, "a reader".

by Editor on Mon, 05/12/2003 - 01:06 | reply