

Those North Korean Missiles

In an amusing reversal of their stereotyped positions, some Democrats, including Jimmy Carter's Vice President Walter Mondale, have called for pre-emptive strikes to destroy North Korea's new missiles. (By the way, do they imagine that the UN would approve these? Would the policy be subjected to that 'test'?) Meanwhile the current Vice President Dick Cheney seems to be dismissing the idea. He even doubts that the weapons exist in the advertised form...

Of course Cheney doesn't want a war with North Korea. It may be groaning under an evil bloodthirsty communist regime, but it has no oil. Right?

Wrong, actually.

Tue, 06/27/2006 - 14:58 | permalink

Shh. You'll give him ideas.

Shh. You'll give him ideas.

by a reader on Fri, 06/30/2006 - 12:24 | login or register to post comments